Carl Javér, Sweden, 2018

94 min. | Documentary

Six years after the terrorist attack, four survivors from Utøya meet in northern Norway to remember and share their experiences of what happened. They are joined by twelve young Norwegians who want to help and understand. A psychologist is involved throughout the entire project. Together, in a film studio, they reconstruct the survivors' memories of what happened on Utøya. The survivors tell their story for their own sake, but also for ours. For the present, but also for the future.
