

(1969 -)

Stage and film director, born 1969, Denmark. Katrine Wiedemann has been a decisive figure in Danish theatre since her soaring debut in 1992. Already at twenty-five, she had put some eight productions behind her and is still one of the most sought-after stage directors in Denmark.

She entered the film scene with her feature film "Fruen på Hamre"/"The Lady of Hamre" (2000), an adaptation of a novel by Morten Korch. The film won the Jury's First Prize in Leeuwarden and for Best Actress in Setúbal.
